

RAFI™ Fundamental Index™ Series

FOUNDED ON PRINCIPLES OF CONTRARIAN INVESTING AND DISCIPLINED REBALANCING

The RAFI Fundamental Index strategy is a broadly diversified equity strategy built on principles of contrarian investing and disciplined rebalancing. By using fundamental measures of company size to select and weight companies, the approach eliminates the performance drag associated with traditional passive investment vehicles and has historically led to outperformance in developed markets of approximately 1.5%–2.0% a year.¹

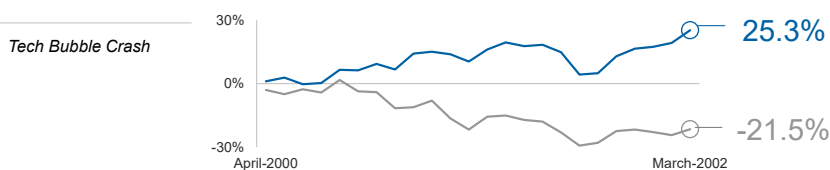

- Broad economic representation with low implementation costs and high capacity
- A history of outperformance based on sound investing principles
- Breaks the link between price and weight
- Engages in contrarian rebalancing, helping investors capture excess return

SEVERING THE LINK BETWEEN PRICE AND PORTFOLIO WEIGHT

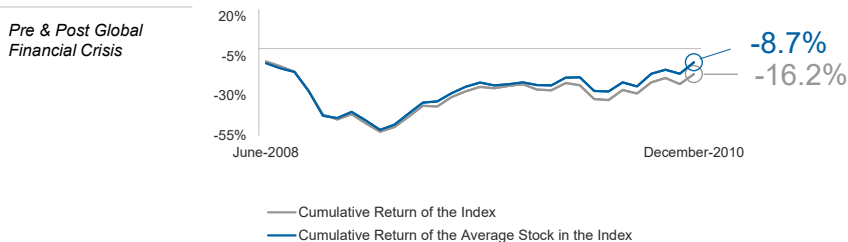

Traditional passive investment vehicles are market capitalization-weighted, which means that as the price of a company increases so does its overall weight in the portfolio, creating a drag on returns. The RAFI Fundamental Index strategy severs that link and embeds a buy-low, sell-high approach, which avoids significant overweights to the trendy, popular, and most expensive securities.

Cumulative Return of the MSCI EAFE Index

Average stock in the S&P 500 Index is calculated by equally weighting the holdings of the S&P 500 as of 4/2000 and price drifting them to 3/2002. The same process is used for the MSCI EAFE from 6/2008 to 12/2010. Source: Research Affiliates, LLC, based on data from FactSet.
